JAIL WOMAN BIGAMIST FOR MARRYING 3 MEN

WOMAN IS ACCUSED OF BIGAMY AND MANY FRIVOLS

Pair Committed to Prison and Must Answer to Seres of Serious Charges.

DUFES ARE VICTIMIZED BY 'MARRIAGE BUREAU'

Mrs. Koehler Collapses When She Is Confronted With Name of Wronged Man.

John Beck of Livermore, his last victim, Mrs. Koehler is about 30 years old, her husband is about 45, and her sister, Mrs. Lohenberg, who is at present living at King City, Monterey county, is at least 60 years old.

The story of the Koehlers' criminal operations can best be told by tracing them back from the present. Mrs. Koehler contracted a bigamous marriage with John Beck. He is an old resident of Livermore, bears a splendid reputation throughout Alameda county and is worth in the neighborhood of $50,000. He has an office of real estate commission in the Livermore district and is superintendent of the factory of the Alameda Sugar Company at Alvarado.

FIRST MEETING.

About eighteen months ago Beck's wife died and not long afterwards Beck while in San Francisco one day, met Mrs. Lohenberg, who was then in Gory. This was in June of 1909. Mrs. Lohenberg had a long talk with Beck during which she told him that he ought to get married again, and when Beck displayed interest in the subject, she could give him an excellent wife. Beck said he was willing and the next time she met Beck she introduced her daughter, Mrs. Koehler, to him, under the name of Mrs. Anne Wallace. The best information that is at present known is that Mrs. Koehler was soon to become a mother by Beck. Her condition, however, she kept from Beck. The latter was very favorably impressed by the young woman and on the 10th of December, 1909, Beck married Mrs. Koehler in San Francisco under the name of Anne Wallace, she giving some plausible reason to Beck for not wanting to be known under the name of Wallace.

PAID HER HOSPITAL BILL.

While Beck was courting the woman who gave birth to Koehler's child in the month of October, 1909, Beck had developed that he unwittingly paid for her accommodation. The woman told him that her mother was very ill and had to go to the hospital. She needed money to help her. Beck gave his future wife a general hundred dollars and after her recovery remained at her home. As a matter of fact, it was Mrs. Koehler who entered the hospital.

Koehler and his wife, together with their five children, lived in this Koehler house at 214 Clay street, San Francisco. Beck was courting Mrs. Koehler, and the children by telling Beck that the children were those of her dead sister and Koehler was her brother-in-law and father of the children. In this Koehler house Mrs. Lohenberg resided and thus Beck was kept in the dark.

During the courtship Mrs. Koehler worked Beck, according to the district attorney, for about $500 and after their marriage she did not lift a finger to do anything, a lot of her personal property for about $2000. Beck took the woman to his home in Livermore. She lived with him part of the time with Koehler and the children in San Francisco.

SUIT DEVELOPS DETAILS.

About three months after she married Beck, Mrs. Koehler wanted him to give her more money and he refused. She then transferred to Alameda county. Then employed a private detective and from the investigation made by him the district attorney learned that the woman Beck was in fact the wife of Koehler and the daughter of Mrs. Lohenberg. He told Beck to employ another lawyer and Attorney A. L. Fryk was brought into the case. The district attorney then devised himself to the criminal and of the matter, enough information of it, most damaging character having come to him to warrant him in going after the Koehlers in jail.

The facts of the matrimonial scandal finally being established, it was the district attorney's first move to establish the marriage between Koehler and Beck. All of the public records of San Francisco county were destroyed in the fire of 1906 and the marriage license could not be located. However, witnesses of the ceremony were present in Superior Judge O'Brien's court late yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Koehler's petition for temporary alimony from Beck was being heard.

Attorney Fryk put Mrs. Koehler through a grilling and brilliant cross-examination on behalf of Beck and it developed that Mrs. Koehler's claim that she had been divorced from Koehler, who was recent in court, was false. Her only defense was that Koehler had told her that he had been divorced from her. It was not, however, until attention was called by Attorney Fryk of James H. Wallace of Los Angeles that Mrs. Koehler broke down and declared she could not go on with her testimony. Judge O'Brien regarded her story with so much suspicion that he immediately committed the woman and Koehler, her husband, to the county jail.

This forenoon he entered a formal commitment and now the district attorney is trying to decide whether he will charge Mrs. Koehler with perjury and have her tried here or turn her and her husband over to the San Francisco police for prosecution in connection with the matrimonial bureau scandal.

"FASCINATING" LADY.

The district attorney secured evidence late last night of the marriage of the Koehlers. Immediately after Judge O'Brien committed the pair to jail, he called on Beck, who is at present living at King City, Monterey county, and told him that he had been divorced from her. Beck said he was willing and the next time she met Beck she introduced her daughter, Mrs. Koehler, to him, under the name of Mrs. Anne Wallace. The best information that is at present known is that Mrs. Koehler was soon to become a mother by Beck. Her condition, however, she kept from Beck. The latter was very favorably impressed by the young woman and on the 10th of December, 1909, Beck married Mrs. Koehler in San Francisco under the name of Anne Wallace, she giving some plausible reason to Beck for not wanting to be known under the name of Wallace.

ALMOST FAINTS IN COURT.

When the name of James H. Wallace was called to Mrs. Koehler's attention yesterday afternoon and almost caused her to faint, it got her the first inkling of the fact that the authorities knew something about a bigamous marriage she contracted with a man of that name in Los Angeles immediately following the San Francisco disaster of 1906.

Koehler admitted today that he knew of the marriage. He was present with his wife and three of their children in Los Angeles at the time.

It was through correspondence with Mrs. Lohenberg, matrimonial bureau that Mrs. Koehler made the acquaintance of Wallace, and when the time was ripe she and her husband, accompanied by the children, went to the southern city to reside while she completed her quest.

She married the man and he suddenly and mysteriously died about two months after the ceremony.

DAY AND NIGHT BANK DOOFS CLOSED

Armed Men Patrol Inside of Los Angeles Institution in Fear of Trouble.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Although a crowd of doofers jammed the sidewalk at Sixth and Spring streets throughout the morning hours, there was no disorder around the All-Day and Night Bank which was closed at 10 o'clock last night by Alben Anderson, superintendent of banks of California. The bank has deposits of nearly a million dollars and estimated assets in excess of that amount. The superintendent took charge of the bank following the election of a new set of directors and a dispute between the old and the new boards as to who had the legal right to direct the affairs of the bank.

ARMED PATROL ON GUARD.

Armed men yesterday patrolled the inside of the bank at the behest of the old board of directors in anticipation of a fourth day of rioting. Today the big plate glass windows of the bank were covered with brown paper through which anxious depositors tried to peer from the sidewalk to see what was going on inside. Guards at both entrances prevented crowd congregating at the doors. A small crowd of doofers, some armed with revolvers, was posted at the main entrance which road.

"The All-Day-and-Night Bank has been closed by order and is in the possession of the superintendent of banks until further notice."

DEPOSITORS ARE SAFE.

Superintendent Anderson says there is not the slightest suspicion of irregularity in connection with the management of the bank and that the depositors will not lose a dollar.

President Skinner charges that the whole matter is a conspiracy to force him to relinquish control of the institution.

MEXICO MOURNS DEATH OF FORMER GOVERNOR

Rafael Yzabal to Be Buried with All Honors; Officials Attend Funeral.

NOGALES, Mex., Oct. 15.—This portion of Mexico is in mourning for three days over the death of ex-Governor Rafael Yzabal, that period having been designated by special governmental decree.

The body of the ex-governor arrived here today from the north in a special funeral coach attached to the regular train. It was met at Nogales by more than 50 of the leading state officials, the governor's staff and others.

After a wait of two hours here, the party proceeded by train southward for Union, where they would be met by a special train and taken to Hermosillo.

Indictment Returned Against Yanagachi

Grand Jury Takes Action to Provide Means of Holding the Fugitive Murderer.

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 15.—An indictment charging Henry Yanagachi with the murder of Thomas Ken-dall, was returned by the grand jury of Sonoma county last night.

It was stated by District Attorney Lea that the object of the action taken was to provide the satisfaction of the minds for holding the fugitive in the event of his capture in a foreign land.

No reference is made in the true bill to the murdered Grace Ken-dall, his wife, the parents of Thomas Kendall.

Supply Ships Sail With Tons of Mail

Glacier Leaves San Diego with Vast Quantity of Postal Matter.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 15.—A ship with a vast quantity of mail and supplies for the officers and men of the national navy, the supply ship Glacier, sailed from San Diego early this morning. The Glacier expects to pick up the rest of the coast on the way north to Alaska. Mail has been stacking up in the local postoffice for the last few days and it was expected until the Glacier arrived that the fleet would stop here.

Woman Defends Title As Champion at Golf

Miss Dorothy Campbell Defeats English Rival and Retains National Supremacy.

FLORENCE, Ill., Oct. 15.—Miss Dorothy Campbell of Hamlet, Ont., successfully defended her title as national woman golf champion today at the Hamilton Country Club, defeating Mrs. G. Martin of Larkston, England, in the final, 2 up and 1 to play.

Alameda Park Commission To Wage War on Ruffians

ALAMEDA, Oct. 5.—The destruction of a brick gymnasium house in Washington Park last night by vandals has incensed the Park and Playground Commissioners and other city officials, and resulted in a call made by President F. N. Delaney of the commission for thirty volunteers to form a vigilance committee to patrol the park day and night in order to discover the destroyers of the city property.

The park benches were cut up and thrown into the bay last night and the apparatus ruined by persons who entered the playground, which is located on Central avenue in the west end, late last night.

WOMAN IS INSULTED.

The existing conditions assumed serious proportions today when a woman resident living at Eighth street and Central avenue was insulted by the conduct of an unknown man, who approached her while she was sitting on the beach with her child.

Park Commissioner Delaney wants 30 volunteers, composed of citizens of the city who will run down offenders by patrolling Washington park day and night. He will ask the police and fire commission to make special policemen of all of the vigilance committee during the time they serve in Washington park.

WORK OF RUFFIANS.

President Delaney said today: "It is a terrible outrage and it must be stopped right now. The work of destruction is being done by ruffians. They only cause for such action is malicious mischief, as far as I can see. I intend to have a patrol and arrest in person these men."

Ten citizens have already promised to do night duty. There will be a permanent guard placed in the park. Lincoln and McKinley parks have not suffered by the work of the vandals.

PLEDGE CEMENTS HIS WEDDING TIE

Judge Takes Couple to Church and Watches Man Sign.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Superior Judge Grant adjourned court and transferred his department from the Grant building to the little German Church of St. Boniface in Golden Gate avenue this morning in order to cement once again the marital bonds of Margaret and James Butler of 1541 Treat avenue.

It was not a marriage ceremony that was being performed, but a pledge on the part of the husband to abstain for five years from the use of intoxicating liquors.

The court attempted a reconciliation when the couple first appeared before him for divorce, but the wife insisted that her husband went to bed with a razor beneath his pillow and repeatedly threatened her with violence. The result of the much liquor, Judge Grant made him promise to take the pledge for five years. On learning that he is a German Catholic, decided to have the ceremony at the church in demanding obedience.

MOTHERS' CLUB AIDS POSTCARD CAMPAIGN

The Mothers' Club of the Washington School, which was overlooked in the mention of the women's club that labored for the success of post card week, report that during the three days campaign the members of the club distributed 15,000 Panacea-Pacific post cards. The club had entire charge of the First Ward and deserved great credit for their good work.

JOSEPHINE BARTLETT SUCCEUMS TO INJURY

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Josephine Bartlett Perry, wife of Harold Perry of New York, known to the public as "Josephine Bartlett," died at the Baptist Hospital Thursday night after a long illness. She was an automobile accident in New York a year ago last spring.

Mrs. Perry began a career on the stage to visit her sister, Mrs. A. B. Quaker, and until two weeks ago it was thought that she was recovering, but at that time she began to suffer from pains in her head and became unconscious, from which she did not recover.

AUTOMOBILE IS TAKEN WHILE OWNER DANCES

While engaged in following the mystic mazes of the masked ball at J. J. Clark last night, Mark Daniels of 418 Park avenue, resident, left his Humphrey standing in Telomah avenue in front of the park. When he and his wife, Walker, were returning home, they emerged from the pavilion at a late hour the machine was gone, and Daniels and Walker walked home in the dark.

Whether the automobile, which was completely new, was stolen or taken for a prank, Daniels is not ready to say. He reported it to the police today as "lost, stayed or stolen." The machine is described as having yellow wheels, a dark body, and seats for two passengers. It had a top, glass front and was numbered 36,112. The police have been asked to locate it.

peared from view in the heavy timber along the Osage river bottoms.

THREE SURGEONS CALLED

It was forty-five minutes before medical aid reached Ketchel. The physician who arrived from Conway, five miles away, could do little for him.

Three surgeons started for Conway from Springfield on a special train as soon as one could be made up.

Ketchel had not regained consciousness at noon, and it was believed that his condition was too low to permit his removal over the rough road to Conway.

SLEUTHS IN PURSUIT.

The train from Springfield carried detectives and three bloodhounds to take up the pursuit of Hurtz. Men employed on the ranch had started the chase, but not before Hurtz had gained a good lead.

Ketchel recently bought a tract of land near the Dickerson ranch, and the double purpose of his visit was to see his property and to rest up.

HIS RISE RAPID.

Stanley Ketchel's rise in the pugilistic world was rapid. He was born in Grand Rapids 23 years ago. About four years ago he began fighting minor bouts in Montana, found himself to be "good," and went to San Francisco, where about three years ago he put himself before the public by whipping Joe Thomas.

This started San Francisco fight fans and they began to advance the newcomer. About nine months after the fight with Thomas, Ketchel whipped "Billy" Papke, the "Illinois Thunderbolt," thereby clinching the title to the middleweight championship. Later Papke whipped him by a narrow margin, but in a return match Ketchel again downed the Illinois fighter and left his title clear.

FIGHT WITH JOHNSON.

Ketchel aspired to a bout with Jack Johnson a little more than a year ago. Fans said he was going out of his class and had their doubts. The negro easily knocked him out in the 12th round, and Ketchel was not heard of for a while.

After the Ketchel-Johnson fight at Reno, Ketchel went east. His admirers said he was growing reckless and would never fight again. However, about a month ago, Wilson Mizanov from St. Louis, Mo., came to Springfield to recuperate on open country air. Since that time he had been visiting at the Dickerson ranch near Conway.

Ketchel Bought Farm in Hope of Getting in Condition

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 15.—Reports have reached Ketchel's relatives here that the champion had actually purchased a farm in the vicinity of Springfield and had settled down on it, convinced that he would be able again to do himself justice in the ring.

Ketchel left his home in this city at the age of 15 and went to Butte, Mont., where he secured employment in the mines. He worked as a cowherd, as a boy in a hotel and as other kinds of work in Butte for a number of years. He entered the ring one night when he was substituted in a semi-wind-up bout and made such a showing for a novice that he had no difficulty in securing engagements.

CITY TO PAY BIG SUM FOR STEP

$75,000 Is Purchase Price of Land Near City Hall.

Partial settlement of the difficulty in which the city finds itself in obtaining a strip of land running from Fourteenth to Fifteenth streets just north of the present site of the city hall, and essential to the construction of the new city hall, was effected last evening at a conference between members of the board of public works and the property owners. A strip of 50 by 100 feet, the property of Snyder & Woodward, will be purchased by the city for $75,000, but the purchase price of the H. C. C. property on Fourteenth street is still the main bone of contention. The price of the Snyder & Woodward land is much higher than was expected, as a smaller sum was set aside of the money voted in the bond issue for this particular purchase.

WILL PROVE INADEQUATE.

As a result of the apportionment of $150,000 for the purchase of land for the addition to the new city hall site, will prove inadequate, and the city officials are at a loss as to how the difficulty shall be met. More than two hours Mayor Mel, Attorney Stinson and City Engineer Turner argued with Snyder & Woodward last evening in an attempt to come to some agreement as to the price of the land, but no settlement was reached. The property is assessed at $800 a front foot, which, by the usual computation, would make its actual value about $100 a foot, while something like $2500 is set by Snyder & Woodward as the right figure.

At the time of the bond issue no option was secured on this piece of property, and the four was expressed by city officials today that due to the increase in land values, there may not be sufficient money to pay for it out of the bond issue fund. An attempt must be made to raise a portion of the money elsewhere. Half a dozen experts in realty values gave opinions at the meeting yesterday, valuations placed on the Snyder & Woodward property running from $50,000 to $80,000.

VIOLA ALLEN AT BEST IN 'THE WHITE SISTER'

MISS VIOLA ALLEN, who is appearing in Crawford's "The White Sister."

F. Marion Crawford's Play Mirthless, but Strong; Deals With Daring Problems and Is Outspoken

There's little mirth in "The White Sister" and it is not a play to leave pleasant memories. But it is tremendously important in its theme, and daring in its treatment. As presented at the Macdonough theater last night with Viola Allen in the title role, and as it will be given tonight, there is nothing left unfulfilled, in acting, staging and in the play itself.

Miss Allen belongs to that fast-growing rank of players who act with effort and forget themselves in their roles. As Sister Giovanni she has been rated by New York critics as at her best. Suffice it to say she assays a difficult characterization and sustains it throughout a difficult play.

CRAWFORD'S BEST.

F. Marion Crawford wrote the "White Sister" and put his best into it. As the story goes, Sister Giovanni has taken the veil after her lover, Captain Giovanni Severi, is reported slain in an engagement with wild tribes on the great desert. Her fortune has been swept away through the efforts of her aunt, Countess Charamonte, who takes the girl for a ward, leaving Giovanni from her and her part.

The play opens at the reception hall of a convent hospital near the Porta Portese, Rome. Lieutenant Hugo Severi, an Italian army aviator, is reported missing, near the convent, has been wounded and is brought to the hospital. Fate has spared his brother, the captain, who, after having been a captive for five years, returns. He rushes to his brother's side and comes face to face with Sister Giovanni.

DEMANDS RENUNCIATION.

Giovanni refuses to become reconciled to the loss of the sister he loves. She points out that the thing is impossible and here ensues a bitter struggle between the man and the nun, the latter fighting between her love for the church and her love for the man. Giovanni, determined to win her for himself, finds that there is a forlorn hope if the sister herself signs a petition to the pope asking for a dispensation. She refuses, pointing out that this will be a disgrace on both of them, and determined to stay by her vows, enlists to go to a leper colony.

Giovanni, determined that she shall not, through a trick gets her into the room of his brother and declares that she will not leave until she has signed the letter asking for a dispensation. Here again is a struggle, the woman winning. The soldier opens the door for her, but declares that he will kill himself the minute she leaves. There is nothing left for her to do but sign the petition.

Giovanni yields. There are more reproaches. Giovanni yields and tears up the note. In the meantime Countess Charamonte has discovered the presence in the room of the nun and she warns the nuns, who start for the scene. The countess, in a motor car, reaches there before him and tells the two that he is coming.

Giovanni realizes the disgrace that he has brought on the woman he loves and seeks to protect her. There is one way out and he takes it. Realizing that if he is ill or hurt the nun would be at her post of duty were she found with him. He shoots himself. It is a mirthless story, mirthlessly told, borders on the daring when it deals with questions of church and state, but never turns paths into bathos, or drama into melodrama. Miss Allen's interpretation of the nun, her fight against love, is admirable.

O'NEILL IS BACK. James O'Neill comes back as Monsignore Saracinesca and was enthusiastically greeted by an audience that has not forgotten him and the work he did to amuse them in other years. He still retains the old ability and sustains his role without an effort. Captain Giovanni Severi is Miss Allen's lead and is acceptable. Minna Della Countess Charamonte will be remembered by Oakland's theatergoers, and Panny Addison Pitt as Madame Bernard was given an ovation. Dwight Dana is Lieutenant Hugo Severi; Frederick Mosley, Doctor Piero; Edwin Brandt, Lieutenant Basil; Joseph Carducci, Brescia; and Belle Chippendale Warner, a Portress.

PRIMA LAY IS UPHELD BY COURT. Illinois Supreme Tribunal Gives Senators Right to Limit Lower House.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 15.—The constitutional right of the senatorial committee of the various political parties to fix the number of candidates to be nominated for the lower house in each senatorial district of the State, was upheld by the Supreme Court today.

It rendered a decision sustaining the denunciation of Attorney-General Stone to the petition and dissolving the petition of Charles M. Espey and Joseph A. McInerney.

The latter had asked that the court issue a writ of mandamus directing the State Board of Canvassers to certify to the highest three names as candidates for the House of Representatives in each senatorial district.

The names as heretofore certified by the State Board of Canvassers will go on the ballot.

MANILA JESUITS ARE PRAISED BY DICKINSON. WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—According to information received here, Secretary of War Dickinson, who recently visited the Philippines on his round-the-world trip, highly commended the work being done by the Jesuit fathers at the Manila Observatory.

The secretary expressed his own appreciation and that of his government of the services of these men, who gave up their Spanish citizenship to serve the United States as official weather forecasters in the Philippines.

At the time of the American assumption of the reins of government there the Jesuit fathers were the only men in the islands capable of carrying on scientific weather investigations.

Riggs and his party discovered the mountain while at work on the boundary survey near the Porcupine river, north of latitude 67. The mountain is east of the 141st meridian. Riggs estimates its distance from the Porcupine at seventy miles, placing it close to the little known Davidson range. The party was unable to get close enough to make accurate measurements, but Riggs estimates its height at 22,000 feet. The height of Mount McKinley is 20,480 feet.

DICKINSON HEARS GERMAN AIR PLANS. BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Joseph F. Dickinson, the American Secretary of War, Brigadier-General Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the Bureau of United States Insular Affairs, and their party improved an opportunity yesterday to learn something of what the German aviation army has accomplished. In company with Captain Samuel Scherle, military attaché at the American embassy, and Second Secretary Joseph C. Crew, they visited the Goerzitz field and later the Testel station. At the latter place a balloon was inflated and set up for the entertainment of the visitors.

DISCOVERS HIGHEST PEAK ON CONTINENT. SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 15.—Thomas J. Riggs, Jr., a government engineer, who has been at work on the Alaska boundary survey, yesterday reported the discovery of the highest peak in the Arctic Circle of what he believes to be the highest mountain on the continent, exceeding Mount McKinley, the famous Alaska peak, by nearly 200 feet. Riggs and his party discovered the mountain while at work on the boundary survey near the Porcupine river, north of latitude 67. The mountain is east of the 141st meridian. Riggs estimates its distance from the Porcupine at seventy miles, placing it close to the little known Davidson range. The party was unable to get close enough to make accurate measurements, but Riggs estimates its height at 22,000 feet. The height of Mount McKinley is 20,480 feet.

Harbach, one of the best known furniture dealers in the coast, formerly associated with many of the large houses both in this city and in San Francisco, has recently associated himself with the Busey-Mihan Furniture Company and San Pablo avenue where he will continue in the future.

His experience has not been limited to this coast alone as he was practically brought up in the great western furniture factories where he gained thorough knowledge of the various lines of goods.

For a number of years he was an employee of Mackay's in this city where he became acquainted with a large number of people on this side of the bay.

Stop the Hindoo Immigration.

Hindoos ought to be kept out of this country, hookworm or no hookworm. The fact that they are subjects of Great Britain does not make them decent or acceptable. They are far inferior in every way to the Chinese and Japanese—mentally, morally and physically. They are filthy and degraded in their personal habits and nearly worthless as laborers. They are lazy and unreliable and huddle together in the towns, dwelling in inconceivable dirt and squalor.

England has no right to object to the exclusion of these wholly undesirable immigrants. Her own colonies exclude them without interference on the part of the imperial government. Hindoos are not allowed to enter Australia and New Zealand. They are excluded from South Africa. The Australian authorities forbid them coming into their country on the ground that they are vicious, degraded, thriftless and propagators of vice and disease, and for the further reason that they degrade the standard of labor and are actually an incubus on the body politic.

The Australian position is the correct one. The Hindoos have no redeeming qualities. They are the dregs of a worn out civilization. They are chained to debasing superstitions and have no desire to assimilate European and American ideas or to be assimilated by other races. They are incapable, incompetent, impossible. They are hopeless from every point of view.

Our government should take steps to stop them from coming here. The tiny trickle that started a few years ago has become a steady stream which threatens to become a flood. The Chinese have been excluded, and the Chinese are infinitely preferable to the Hindoos. By friendly arrangement with the Japanese government immigration from Japan has nearly ceased. But in place of the Chinese and Japanese we are receiving a horde of Hindoos. The change is altogether for the worse. It is polluting, poisonous, and is becoming a more serious menace every day. It ought to be stopped. If Australia, New Zealand and the South African colonies can stop it, we can. If England objects we can point to the example of her colonies.

One of the strongest arguments why the Republican party should continue in control of public affairs in California is being studiously ignored. That argument is furnished by the splendid administration of Governor Gillett. California never had a better Governor nor a cleaner or more effective administration. Taxes have been reduced and the State institutions managed admirably. Much beneficial legislation has been enacted at recent sessions of the Legislature, and every good bill received the prompt approval of the Governor. Yet this record, so worthy of confidence and praise, is not mentioned on the stump in this campaign.

Officious Interference With True Sport.

It is understood that the Fish and Game Commission is determined to put a stop to a violation of the law that has hitherto been almost universally practiced among the ducking clubs. The law limits the number of ducks that can be killed by one person in a single day to twenty-five. Nevertheless it has been the practice among the clubs to kill the limit for each gun in the shoot—that is, some would over-kill to make up for the deficiencies of others. Even visitors who do no shooting at all come back with a limit bag, supplied by shooters who exceed the legal limit. On the opening day of the shooting season one club member killed seventy-nine ducks. Last season one hunter shot 140 canvas-backs one day.

Hitherto the game wardens have winked at exceeding the bag limit, provided it went no further than some members of a party making up for the deficiencies of their shooting companions. But it seems that the bag limit is to be rigidly enforced in future. The toleration hitherto shown for violations of the law on private preserves is not to prevail hereafter—so we are told. How long this stern devotion to duty will guide the Fish and Game Commission remains to be seen. Probably not for any lengthy period.

Nor is there any good reason why the sportsmen's clubs should be required to obey the game laws. The laws were passed at their instance and for their benefit, and were not intended to apply to the owners or lessees of private preserves. The game laws were devised to prevent the common people from shooting game and to preserve it for those so fortunate as to possess a shooting privilege.

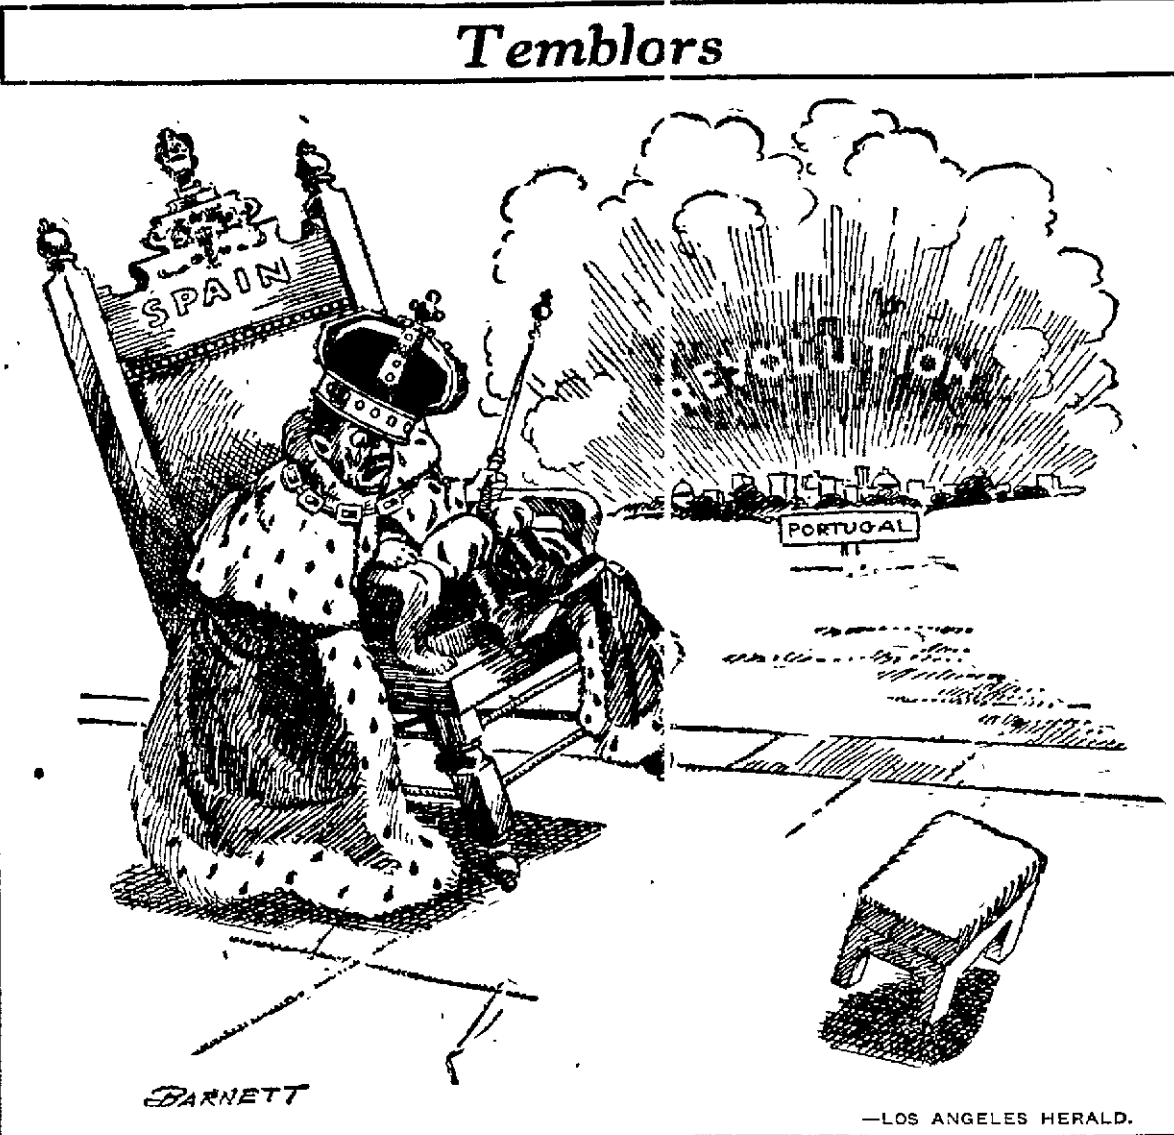

On the private preserves the law has been regarded as a dead letter, because it was never intended to apply there or to club members on their own grounds. The laws were made for the other fellows, and the shooters logically regarded themselves as exempt from their provisions.

Up to this time the Fish and Game Commissioners have taken this view of the game laws, and have understood that their chief mission was to protect the game in the shooting clubs and not enforce the law when it interfered with the sport and pleasure of true sportsmen. Now a new notion possesses them. They say the sportsmen's club must obey the law just the same as other people.

How ridiculous! How absurdly unjust! For whose benefit were the game laws passed? Who had them passed? The sportsmen's clubs, of course. Now the gun is to be turned against the gunners. The executioner is to be hanged with his own rope.

But the Fish and Game Commissioners will soon find out that they are treading on sacred ground and invading a special privilege that has all the sanctity of a vested right. They will be taught in time that the shooting clubs run the Fish and Game Commission and prescribe the method of enforcing game laws; have a system of their own whereby the laws are enforced or violated to suit the pleasure and convenience of the aristocracy of sport. The game wardens will soon be shown their proper place and taught their duty. They must not interfere with the sporting gentry.

The members of the Private Club that adopted resolutions opposing the proposed bond issue to purchase lands and make dock improvements in what is known as India Basin, San Francisco, apparently are laboring under the impression that the taxpayers throughout the state will be taxed to pay the principal and interest of the bond. Such will not be the case. The bonds will be paid, principal and interest, with the revenues collected by the San Francisco Harbor Commission. All the voters are asked to do is to give their assent at the polls to the bonding proposition. This assent is necessary because the State owns the water front of San Francisco and the State Board of Harbor Commissioners have charge of all dock and wharf improvements made at that port. Those improvements cost the people of the State nothing. They are made to accommodate the commerce of the port, and commerce is taxed to pay for making them. The proposed improvements at India Basin are deemed necessary for the accommodation of commerce and the cost of making them will be defrayed from port dues collected by the Harbor Commission. It is a mistake to assume that they will impose a financial burden on the people of the State.

A Most Unfortunate Reference.

In his speech at Berkeley Hon. Hiram W. Johnson said no word in commendation of his fellow candidates on the Republican State ticket. He did, however, impress upon his hearers the importance of electing a non-partisan judiciary, coupling his remarks in this connection with a significant reference to the graft prosecution in San Francisco.

Mr. Johnson either said too much or too little. A non-partisan judiciary is a good thing—that is, a judiciary that is honest, able, fair and independent is a good thing. But the circumstances prevailing in this campaign give a peculiar color to the references made by the Republican candidate for Governor to a non-partisan judiciary.

Mr. Johnson is not running on a non-partisan ticket. He is the nominee of the Republican party, and the Republican judicial candidates received their nominations in the same way he did—from the Republican voters direct and not from any convention. They were nominated, as he was nominated, as candidates of the Republican party.

An appeal for a non-partisan judiciary voiced by the head of the Republican ticket can be construed as in the nature of advice to Republican voters to bolt their own judicial nominees in favor of Democratic candidates. Probably Mr. Johnson did not intend to give any such advice, but nevertheless his remarks admit of that construction. They were therefore unfortunate and calculated to disturb Republican harmony. For when party voters begin cutting their ticket they are not likely to stop at one man.

The Republican nominees for the judicial bench are capable and tried men who have proved themselves worthy of trust. It is not non-partisanship to pass them over for partisans nominated on the Democratic ticket. The Democratic candidates are as much partisans as are the Republican candidates, politically speaking, and are inferior in caliber and judicial experience.

The new million-dollar Bankers' Hotel—the center of the city's social life—bearing the same relation to Oakland as the St. Francis to San Francisco—is only SEVEN MINUTES BY CAR from those big and beautiful lots in the HEART of the Piedmont section, on sale at NO INCREASE IN PRICE.

TOMORROW

As Little As $20 a Foot Some Even Less ; Terms As Little As $10 a Month

Just consider the effect upon the value of every square foot of this property when residents there will be a few minutes' ride of the palm gardens, ten rooms, ball rooms, cafe—in short, all the life and gaiety of this splendid new caravan—now being rushed to completion. The steel frame is now up.

The homes on the hills—embowered in flowers and vines—away from the noise and dust of traffic—in the clear air and sunshine of the hills—will YET be only seven minutes' ride to the gayest and most luxuriously metropolitan spot in the whole city.

The remarkable enthusiasm with which this property has been received in the five days that it has been on sale, and the astonishingly large number of projects by buyers for the immediate construction of handsome residences absolutely convinces us that this property is designed to become the most favored place for refined homes in the entire extent of the east shore cities. It is a solid fact of real estate experience that the earliest buyers make the biggest profits. First buyers in the original Piedmont tracts made from 100 per cent to 200 per cent, and we look for this experience to be duplicated and even bettered by buyers in this tract—NOW—at original prices.

Nowhere in this part of the world is property of such intrinsic excellence being offered for sale at anywhere near these prices. The best-informed investors and shrewdest men in this community are on our list of buyers. YOU should at least investigate this opportunity, and if you find it absolutely representative, THEN AND ONLY THEN, do we ask you to consider the purchase of a lot as a profit-making investment.

Here are the essential facts about this property

It is in the exclusive Piedmont section
It is surrounded by parks
It is rigidly restricted and in a restricted section
Every lot has a magnificent view
It is bounded by well-kept boulevards
It is nine minutes from the heart of Oakland by a new street car line having a terminus in the tract
It is bordered by the right of way of the Key Route extension—when complete, giving a direct 30-minute electric train service to San Francisco
It is a mile nearer than the main part of Piedmont
It has complete—
macadamized streets
concrete sidewalks water and sewer gas and electricity and shade trees

The Water Carnival

on Lake Merritt, postponed from Columbus day, will be held tomorrow, Sunday, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. East Piedmont Heights (extension) is first-row-in-the-balcony seat for this spectacular pageant. See this spectacle from a lot that maybe you will want for your own. We have arranged to give on the street cars from Lake Shore Park, the focus of the spectacle, to the terminus of the car line, right in this property. Only a step, but why walk? Come and be our guest tomorrow. Make your Sunday outing both a pleasure and a profit.

Take Grand Avenue car at Fourteenth and Broadway to the terminus in the tract. Harrison Boulevard from the center of the city runs all the way to the tract—broad paved highway lined with fine residences and parks and curving around the head of the lake.

THE MEDDLER

MRS. J. C. NEEDHAM, wife of Congressman Needham of Modesto, who was a recent visitor here. —Scharz, Photo.

THE largest social affair of the week was the reception given by Mrs. Henry Miles Bull in honor of her pretty young daughter, Miss Elizabeth Latham. The latter has finished her formal school work, and has recently returned with her mother, from a trip to the Orient, and a well-earned tour of Europe.

Mrs. Bull sent out over four hundred cards for the reception, which was the largest tea given this season on this side of the bay.

The reception was given in the old family home of the Chamberlains, which was recently purchased by Mrs. Bull, and the well-known home was very beautifully decorated in honor of the coming out of the young girl of the household.

The hall and large room were very effectively decorated with beautiful woodwardia ferns, and in the music room were many lovely flowers, which represented the kind thoughts of friends for the pretty debutante of the hour.

The dining room was also an attractive study, and there were many compliments for the exquisite table appointments, especially for the handsome linen brought from abroad.

The music for the afternoon was given by Miss Davies' Orchestra, the Symphony Trio rendering beautiful selections during the afternoon.

Mrs. Bull, the hostess of the hour, looked exceedingly well, and received her guests with much charm of manner. She has a rare personal try, and she has the happy gift of making one exceedingly welcome in her home. She wore an exquisite gown, showing a color scheme of yellow. It was of yellow marquisette over yellow satin, and her jewels were exceedingly handsome diamonds.

Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain, her mother, was beautifully gowned in black satin, which was trimmed in handsome chantilly lace.

Miss Elizabeth Latham made a very charming debutante. In a gown of cream chiffon, showing Princess effects, and daintily trimmed in lace, she carried lovely orchids, and made a graceful study of a sweet, pretty young girl.

Mrs. J. Walter Scott was in the receiving party, and she wore one of the most effective costumes at the large reception. Her gown was of white satin, with an overdress of rare white lace. She wore orchids and her ornaments were superb diamonds. Mrs. Scott looked exceedingly well, and she is always one of the most entertaining and one of the most delightful members of a receiving party.

Mrs. W. A. Schrock wore a very handsome gown planned along original lines. It was of heavy black velvet, with touches of rare lace, the costume set off with diamond ornaments.

Mrs. Perry, who was also of the receiving party, was gowned in black chiffon over green satin, the costume completed by lovely orchids in lavender shades.

Mrs. John Maxwell wore a hand embroidered lingerie gown over pink messaline, with pink roses.

Mrs. H. B. Mehrmann wore an elaborate pompadour gown in shades of blue and pink, and her ornaments were diamonds and pearls.

Miss Hazel Layman wore a very dainty gown of pink chiffon over pink satin, very artistically made, and showing the narrow effect in skirts which are now so popular.

Miss Grace Layman wore one of the most original and unique gowns at the large tea. The gown was one of the new shades of pea-duck blue, with an overdress of tan chiffon, and the beautiful costume was superbly trimmed in sable.

Miss Finn of San Rafael, who is Mrs. Bull's niece, and a very pretty girl, made a lovely study in a gown of pink messaline over pink satin.

Miss Dieckmann, who was also in the receiving party, wore a gown of corn-colored spangled net over yellow satin, and her ornaments were pearls.

There were over three hundred guests at the large reception, and the tea was in every way a success, and a truly enjoyable affair.

FEW TAILORED GOWNS AT WEDDINGS.

At Mrs. Bull's reception, one saw rows, and many picturesque and very becoming hats. A well known woman writing of the weddings in New York this October says:

"At the afternoon weddings comparatively few tailored gowns, even of the elaborate variety, are seen. Nearly all the gowns were regulation reception robes. The younger women and girls wore short skirts, but their mothers preferred slightly trailing skirts. None of the so-called 'hobble' skirts were seen, and few showed even any stimulation of the tied-in effects, although a number had tunics that at or below the knees fluffed out over folds of a contrasting color, or else hung perfectly straight over these bands. Other skirts were embroidered, or rather showed wide embroidered bands or plain bands of the same or contrasting material or shade at the hem, with short, straight overdresses.

There was as a rule nothing really new in most of the gowns worn by the guests, the lines and materials being the same as those of the summer.

CLOTHES ARE SERIOUSLY DISCUSSED.

There has really never been a time when 'clothes' have been so seriously discussed as during the present season. And the results of the discussion were in many ways in evidence at the large reception on Thursday. New gowns will be, of course, in these October days, the order of the year, and any new light on Fashion's devious ways, will be received with the greatest interest.

Paris and Viennese notes are really valuable, and from Paris one hears that one of the most interesting things in this city is the serious aspect that clothes take on at this time of the year. Every one is asking every one else about the fashions. Men and women, tourist and native, discuss eagerly the slightest flicker of news that comes from the great houses. The American buyers have left with their trunks and boxes of splendid gowns, on which they have paid splendid duty at the pier, and the French women are beginning to order their gowns.

It really does not make very much difference to the majority of Americans what the French women will wear; it is what the Americans will decide is fashionable that will count in America. The argument is always brought up that we bring our gowns over too early for them to be really correct, but whether or not this is true, they are the gowns that American buyers have chosen for their people and which can be bought in this country.

And in regard to the now historic 'hobble' skirt one reads: "The 'hobble' skirt was never a leading fashion among French women, but was extensively taken up by English and Americans. It has been out of fashion for two months, and not one was shown by the great houses at the openings, but that did not prevent dozens of them being exploited in America during the early fall by those who had nothing really new to show, but made a pretense of offering styles that were to be.

The 'hobble' skirt gave way to a plain, narrow, tight skirt, that has no name, but is exceedingly graceful and well made. Mark you, the last is very important. It will be badly made by a great number of incompetent cutters, and this may kill the fashion. It owes its grace to the fact that it is straight up and down, and reaches to a graceful line above the waist. If it were tight at the waist it would be entirely ugly. The omission of a belt is effective.

MRS. EDWIN GRIFFITHS ENTERTAINS FRIENDS.

Among the teas planned for next luncheon of the week was that given by Mrs. Edwin Griffiths, who was formerly Katherine Harub, and who entertained her guests at her home on Jackson street. The luncheon was perfectly planned, and the table was a most charming study in its decorations of early violets, pink roses and lilies of the valley. The guests were all old friends, who enjoyed the delightful reunion at the luncheon.

Very handsome gowns were worn by the guests, among the most elaborate being those of Mrs. Louise Alder, Mrs. Frederick Stimp and Mrs. William E. Dargie.

MRS. WEBSTER'S TEA TO BE A LARGE ONE.

Among the teas planned for next week is that to be given by Mrs. Hugh Webster in honor of Miss Alice Rooney, whose engagement to Mr. Louis Titus was announced recently. Miss Rooney is a graduate of the University of California and a member of the same sorority there as Mrs. Webster.

Much interest is ever where manifested in this engagement so recently announced. Louis Titus is also a graduate of Berkeley, and he has spent many years of his life in Oakland building up large business interests here. Miss Rooney is an exceedingly attractive girl, very brilliant in intellectual attainments, and one hears she did very good work along journalistic lines. She is very handsome, of a blonde type, and she has a personality, magnetic and charming.

Mrs. Rooney was a sister of the late James G. Fair. The Rooneys have a very delightful home on Guerrero street, across the bay, one of the charming, old fashioned homes that are still to be found in that section of the city. The three daughters of the Rooney family are exceedingly bright girls, much more talented, much more attractive, and much more cultured than their cousins of the Fair family.

It is perfectly true that "all things come to him who waits," and it has come to Mr. Rooney. For years he has patiently treasured hopes in a mine, and incidentally he has put into it all the money that came his way. All at once, the mine began to pay, and now the Rooneys are far richer than was ever indicated in their fondest dreams.

Miss Rooney has superb jewels, among them a gorgeous necklace of pearls. Her friends are planning many complimentary affairs for her, and she will doubtless be greatly entertained before the wedding in November.

The wedding trip will include a tour of Europe, and later, the young people will make their home at Piedmont, in the handsome residence being built by Mr. Titus.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., came from abroad last week and for the present is at her place on Long Island. Her sister, Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, has opened her town house for the season.

MRS. JOHN HEATH IS ABROAD.

Mrs. John Heath and her son, Jack Heath, are spending autumn days abroad. They were in Paris during September, where they met many prominent Americans, and while there they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. William S. Dalliba.

MRS. STEELE HAS RETURNED TO TOWN.

Mrs. Steele and Miss Muriel Steele have returned to town after a most enjoyable summer on the beautiful McCloud river. They have as their guest Mrs. Steele's sister, Mrs. Bennett, who has come up from Los Gatos to spend some time with friends and relatives here.

MRS. VAN SICKLEN TO RETURN IN NOVEMBER.

Mrs. Frederick Van Sicklen, Miss Dorothy Van Sicklen, and Miss Marian Marvin, who have been traveling in the East for several weeks past, had planned to return home this month, but have postponed their arrival here until the end of November. At present they are at Manhattan Hotel in New York, and they are often guests in the homes of relatives and friends.

MRS. DE LAVEAGA BACK IN CITY.

Mrs. De Laveaga, who is one of the brightest young matrons across the bay, was formerly Delight Woodbury of this city. She is often the guest of her mother, Mrs. Charles J. Woodbury, and her Oakland friends never fail of a cordial welcome in her home across the bay. She and her husband have returned to town.

MRS. J. B. RICHARDSON ENTERTAINS FRIENDS.

Mrs. J. B. Richardson will entertain friends next week in her home at Piedmont, having sent out cards for October 18, when she will entertain in honor of an Easter guest, Mrs. E. G. Denniston. The latter is president of the National Board of Needlework Guild, and is spending some time on this coast. The Guild is one of the most important philanthropies in the United States, exceedingly well managed, and far reaching in results.

MR. AND MRS. RAWLINGS LEAVE FOR MEXICO.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Rawlings and their two children, who have spent the summer on our side of the bay, left last week for Mexico, where they usually spend the winter, and where Mr. Rawlings has developed large mining interests.

Mrs. Lloyd Rawling and Miss Jane Rawlings are very fond of Los Gatos, where they built a very delightful home in which they spend a large part of each year.

HOMES TO BE OPENED IN OCTOBER DAYS.

The October days will see many prominent homes opened, which have been closed in the late summer holidays. Mrs. Bowles and Miss Amy Bowles returned to town last week, having spent some time in the East. Mrs. Henshaw and her daughter, at Ye Liberty Playhouse being worthy with Miss Grimes, arrived from Europe early in the week, and "Rose-Croft," their home, is to be opened for the winter.

Mrs. Frank L. Brown arrived also this week from the East, coming home by way of Los Angeles, and her daughter, Mrs. William Thornton White, also returned this week. Mrs. White is very sunning indeed, in the most becoming gowns, the latest of the New York designs.

MISS DOROTHY TAFT GIVES UP SCHOOL.

All her friends are very sorry to hear that Miss Dorothy Taft, who went to New York a few weeks ago to attend Mrs. Scott's School, has been obliged to give up her work there. Miss Christie Taft is a graduate of the Seattle School, and Miss Dorothy had planned to graduate there also.

Miss Taft will return next week with her mother, Mrs. Henry Clay Taft, who went East as soon as she heard of her daughter's illness.

MISS HOUGHTON COMING HOME.

Miss Minnie Houghton, who has been spending several months in the East, is expected home the latter part of this month. While in the East, she has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Bulkley, of Hartford, Connecticut.

Miss Houghton is planning to occupy for the winter her home on Jackson street in San Francisco.

FRANK HAVENS IS HERE FROM THE EAST.

Frank Havens arrived from the East last week, but Mrs. Havens remained at Sag Harbor, and is not expected here until later in the month. She will be accompanied to the coast by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Partington, who have spent the summer at Sag Harbor.

The new home of the Havens, "Oak Knoll," at Piedmont, is approaching completion, and Mrs. Havens will make her friends very welcome there, with the old time hospitality they know so well.

MRS. ROLAND OLIVER IS IN PARIS.

Mrs. Roland Oliver (Marian Smith) and her friend, Mrs. Grace Wisnar, who are traveling leisurely around the world, are now established in Paris, where they have set up a studio, intending to study this winter.

Mrs. Wisnar is one of the finest scene painters on the coast, her work at Ye Liberty Playhouse being worthy of all praise. She is to study art in Paris this winter, under the best masters, and her friends predict for her a future of much promise. Mrs. Roland Oliver is very musical and she has a sweet voice, which has been well trained.

The J. M. Smiths had a large organ built in the hall at Arbor Villa, and their daughter was one of the most accomplished organists on our side of the bay.

One hears that Mrs. Oliver is to spend much time this winter in the study of music in Paris, and no doubt the season there will be of much profit to her.

MR. AND MRS. CHILDS BACK FROM WEDDING TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. William Childs, (Helen Dornin), have returned from their wedding trip to the southern part of the State, and are guests at the Dornin home on Webster street. Their new home is in process of completion, and they hope to occupy it some time in November.

MISS RUTH KALES TO BE A BRIDE.

The most important wedding of next week will be that of Mr. Thomas Knowles and Miss Ruth Kales, which will take place next Thursday evening at the Kales home on La Street. One hears that many beautiful wedding gifts are daily arriving at the Kales home, tributes to the popularity of this sweet and attractive young bride-elect.

Miss Hoadley has come from New York to be present at the wedding of Miss Kales, and bright Miss Grace Pomeroy is to be of the wedding party. At the home there have been many complimentary gifts for Miss Kales, who is so sweet and lovable that her friends find pleasure in planning for her.

Miss Elsie Schilling was the hostess at a very elaborate card party, planned in honor of Miss Kales, which was held at her home on La Street. The party was very successful, and the young people enjoyed every moment there, for there is always a good time when Miss Schilling is planning their entertainments, and they spare nothing which may give their young guests a good time.

Miss Schilling was assisted in receiving her guests by Miss Simpson, Miss Ruth and Miss Rose Kales, and the party in honor of the bride-elect was a success and most happy affair.

There are many dates for the future, as cards are finding their way to our various homes, and the coming season brings promise of much gaiety and of many bright good times.

THE MIDDLER.

Miss Elna Irene Nelson whose picture appears in tonight's Meddler is the daughter of Captain and Mrs. A. V. Nelson. She will be an October bride, her marriage to John Albert Bischoff being scheduled for the latter part of this month. Miss Nelson is a member of the Sigma Alpha Theta society and a graduate of the Berkeley High School in which city she is a wide acquaintance. Her father, Captain Nelson, is in command of the township Para of the Pacific Mail company.

Mrs. J. C. Needham is the wife of Congressman Needham of Modesto and was a recent visitor in this city where she was the guest of Congressman and Mrs. Joseph Russell Knowland and Mrs. Needham assisted Mrs. Knowland in receiving her guests recently at the elaborate reception over which the former presided in honor of her mother, Mrs. Florence West of Virginia.

Miss Helen Hill is one of the youngest set in the college town who takes an active part in social affairs. She has a wide circle of friends about the bay and is a frequent hostess.

which a dozen matrons of the smart set were asked.

CARDS ARE OUT FOR WEDDINGS.

Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Christine Morris Pomeroy and Thomas Scott Brooke of Portland. They were issued on Wednesday and some two thousand were sent out. Many of these, of course, went to Portland, where Mr. Brooke is prominent in the business and social world, but there is no doubt but that Trinity church will be crowded on the afternoon of November 3 at 4 o'clock, and that the Pomeroy home afterwards at 4.30 will be filled with guests. The cards to the Pomeroy house simply announce that Mr. and Mrs. Carter Pitkin Pomeroy will be at home at 3660 Clay street at 4.30. The wedding will be one of the most fashionable of the season. Most of the other early weddings of the fall are to be small home affairs and this is the only large church wedding of the early season.

The marriage of Miss Helena Irwin and Templeton Crocker will, of course, be a great affair, but it is not scheduled to take place before February, and may not be a church wedding.

Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Mary Josephine and Mr. Avenall, which takes place today at the home of the bride's father at Woodside. The invitation list is limited to thirty outside of the bride's large family connection and to each of these guests the bride writes a pretty little note. The wedding is to be of the very simplest and after the ceremony and a brief wedding tourney, Mr. and Mrs. Avenall will go to San Jose to live. The groom's business interests are there and they have taken a cunning cottage in the town. Miss Linda Cudvalader, who is to marry a brother of today's bridegroom, will be maid of honor at the wedding and the bride's younger sisters will be bridesmaids. Miss Cudvalader's wedding will not take place until spring.

Cards are out for a large dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Emory Winslip will give this evening at the Palace Hotel in honor of Miss Florence Ives and her fiancé, Othello Scribner. It is to be a large and smart affair. Mr. and Mrs. Winslip have closed their home in Ross and have come to San Francisco to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Casey at their Broadway home before leaving next week for the Winslip home in Macon, Georgia. Mrs. Winslip entertains beautifully and a very delightful dinner which she gave at the Fairmont on the occasion of her last visit here is still remembered. Not one of the season's brides has been entertained as much as charming Florence Ives and the feeling she is receiving at the hands of her friends is a great tribute to her popularity. Among other things she has been guest of honor at two large dinners, besides tonight's affair and one scheduled for Monday evening, when she will be the guest of honor at a large dinner at which her sister, Mrs. Henry Crocker, will preside. The same evening Mr. Crocker will be host at a stag dinner in honor of Mr. Scribner. The other dinner hostesses were Mrs. A. P. Hoadley, Jr., and Mrs. William S. Porter. Mrs. Porter had twelve guests at her dinner which took place on Wednesday evening of this week. There have also been several luncheons. Mrs. Fannie McCarty gave a large luncheon in honor of Miss Ives at the Francisco club last week and Mrs. Crocker also presided at a large luncheon in her sister's honor. Miss Ives is such a generous and considerate girl and has entertained so much for her friends and for other brides and grooms that it is no wonder she is now receiving in full measure tokens of the loving delight taken by her friends in her happiness. Miss Ives has a perfectly wonderful collection of engagement cups and other engagement gifts.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA VISITORS.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pierce of Pasadena, with their three children, Mrs. Pierce's mother, Mrs. Stensen, and the usual complement of nurses and maids, have been staying for some days at the Palace Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce make their home at one of the large Pasadena hotels and spent July and August at the Potter in Santa Barbara. During their stay in town they were much feted. On Saturday they were luncheon guests at the St. Francis, being entertained by Lieutenant Kaufmann, whose fiancée is Miss Elia Draper. Miss Draper was of course among the luncheon guests. The wedding of these two popular young people, by the way, will not take place until November.

COMINGS AND GOINGS OF PEOPLE.

Mrs. Ryland Wallace who has returned from two years spent in Europe and New York, is in San Francisco and has opened her handsome Clay street home which was occupied part of the time during the absence of Charles Black of the United Railroads, but had been closed for the last six months. Mrs. Wallace will take her place among the season's hostesses, being very fond of bridge. Bradley Wallace, Mrs. Wallace's son, returned with his mother and will follow the footsteps of his father and grandfather in the practice of the law.

W. Mayo Newhall is in town for a few days.

Mrs. Harry Mendell has rented her handsome home on Pacific avenue which she remodeled extensively only last year, to Mrs. Harry Allen of Ross, who will occupy it during the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Mendell and Covington Janin are at the El Drisco apartments on Pacific avenue near Broderick street, where they will pass the winter. Later they expect to go east.

Miss Louise Janin will enter a New York school this winter and in the spring the entire family will go to Europe where they will spend the summer and fall traveling and may possibly remain for the entire year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Drum have returned to town and have reopened their Broadway home after a summer passed with Mrs. Drum's parents in Ross Valley. Mr. Spieker, Mrs. Drum's father, has been seriously ill, but is now convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bothin of Ross are in New York where Mrs. Bothin is selecting her winter wardrobe and also the furnishings for her charming new Santa Barbara home, which will be finished, furnished and ready for occupancy some time in the spring. The Bothins will undoubtedly spend much time there, as they enjoy the quiet of the Santa Barbara colony and will find the home in the southland much livelier than the one at Ross. Ross has been very quiet this summer—a real place to rest if one desired it—for most of the houses were to rent or rented, while the householders disported themselves elsewhere.

LUNCHEONS OF THE WEEK.

Mrs. George C. Boardman entertained very informally at luncheon and bridge on Wednesday. Mrs. Boardman is in mourning and will give none but very small and informal entertainments except the tea which she will give on October 22 to introduce her grand-daughter to society.

Miss Ella Morgan who is also in mourning, entertained most informally at bridge on Wednesday.

Mrs. Willard Williamson, who had sent out cards for a luncheon on Wednesday, was forced to recall her cards at the last moment because of the sudden death of a cousin, which necessitated her leaving town for a few days.

Mrs. Harry Holbrook gave a pretty luncheon on Thursday in honor of Mrs. McMillan (Leontie Blakeman), who has been spending the summer with her father and mother in Sonoma county, but is now in town for a few days. After luncheon bridge was played. The Holbrooks have a charming home in Pacific avenue at which they entertain informally and frequently. Both of the Holbrooks (Lillie Spreckels) are very fond of their friends, but neither care anything for large affairs or much display in entertaining.

DEATH OF MRS. COLE.

Condolences are being offered to Mrs. Sietcken and Miss Teckla Sietcken, as well as to Mrs. McClung and her daughters in the death of Mrs. R. Beverley Cole which occurred at Calistoga a week or so ago. Mrs. Cole was buried from Trinity Church in Oakland. Mrs. Cole was very aged and was the widow of the well known physician who passed away some years ago. The Cole home on Broadway was once the center for much of the entertaining in San Francisco, for the Coles were members of the old Southern set which used to rule things with a high hand. Before building the Broadway residence the Coles resided in exclusive old South Park. Mrs. Cole came from a well known Baltimore family and her daughter, Mrs. McClung, inherited her love for social affairs and was at one time prominent in San Francisco's dancing clubs for the younger set. Her daughters Alma and Gladys were very popular socially and both married young naval officers. Both the married daughters and Mrs. McClung are now in the Orient where the officers' husbands are stationed.

CONGRATULATIONS BEING OFFERED.

Congratulations are being offered Lieutenant and Mrs. Naylor (Peggy Simpson) on the birth of a daughter which occurred this week.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Smith (Ella Nicholson) is to be called Emmet Nicholson after Mrs. Smith's father and brother, the well known physicians. The little son is the first grandson in the family.

THE MINTZERS RETURN.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mintzer are expected home from the East this week when they will close their house and prepare for a long absence from town. They will go East to spend Thanksgiving with their boys who are in school and will spend Christmas with Miss Maurice Mintzer in Paris. The Mintzers will winter in Paris and on the close of school the two boys will join their parents for a summer of European travel. In the fall all will return to this country and Miss Maurice, with her parents, will return to San Francisco where, if all goes well, Miss Mintzer will be presented to society, probably at a ball, as the Mintzers are fond of evening entertainments.

SO SOCIETY

One of the prettiest affairs of the week was a luncheon given on Friday evening by Mrs. Scott Seaton in honor of Miss Maude Knapp of Southern California who is a house guest of Mrs. Seaton's. The room was decorated with pink and lavender blossoms and for a dozen guests from both sides of the bay. Miss Knapp will be the recipient of much social attention before her departure.

TO TOUR EUROPE. Mrs. George McNear and Miss Elizabeth McNear will leave in a few weeks for an extended trip through Europe. Miss Elizabeth Sherman will accompany them, and they will

'We're Not Degenerates,' Cry the Suffragettes

Women Brand De Costa's Talk as Foolish.

PHILADELPHIA.—"Arrant nonsense." That is the verdict of the suffragists upon Dr. J. Chalmers De Costa's statement, made last night before the American Philosophical Society, that "the militant suffragette is well along on the highway of degeneration," and that the so-called emancipation of women is largely responsible for the high suicide rate among the women of America.

"Arrant nonsense," repeated Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. "Dr. De Costa does not know what he is talking about. He must be well along on the highway of degeneration himself, or he never would have made a ridiculous remark like that."

"Are the women who commit suicide suffragettes? I should like to ask him that, and I know that investigation would prove that they are not. In the sixty years that the suffrage movement has been going on in America, I have never heard of a single suffragist who killed herself."

LOVE TO BLAME.

"Suicide among women is not due to suffrage, to emancipation, to the advancement of women. If Dr. De Costa would investigate I think he would find that the majority of women suicides kill themselves because of some love affair, some domestic trouble, some nervous exhaustion that is the result of their 'purely feminine' activities."

"The things that drive women to suicide are the things that women have always done, the things that Dr. De Costa evidently considers quite within 'woman's sphere.'"

"Is the suicide rate among women higher in suffrage states than in states where there is no woman's suffrage? I'd like to ask Dr. De Costa that, too."

"I think he would find that it is not. As for his remarks about women 'taking up man's work,' entering fields of industry and intellect, effort, leaving the home—why do they do that? Women are forced into industry by the conditions of a man-made government."

"SEE SOCIETY WOMEN."

"Degeneracy is to be found among the society women, the women whose lives are lived in ease and luxury. That is where one should look for degeneracy, neurasthenia, melancholia."

"Does Dr. De Costa consider Jane Addams a degenerate? She is a suffragist. Does he consider M. Ella Flegg Young, president of the National Educational Association, as being 'well along on the highway of degeneration?' She is a suffragist."

"Clara Barton, the greatest war nurse the country ever knew, is a suffragist; is she a degenerate. In Dr. De Costa's opinion? The president of our war colleges, M. Carey Thomas, Caroline F. E. Spurgeon, Mary E. Woolley—does Dr. De Costa consider them degenerates?"

"As for the question of suicide—I think investigation would show that it is the advanced women, the suffragettes, who are most cheerful, who are most anxious to live."

OAKLAND GIRL TO STUDY IN PARIS FOR CAREER IN OPERA

LEONORE SIMONSEN, who is going abroad to study.

Miss Leonore Simonsen, an Oakland girl, leaves next Sunday for Paris to study music. Miss Simonsen has appeared on the variety stage in this country during the past six years and has made several very successful appearances, giving a clever singing and dancing act.

Mrs. Simonsen will devote her attention while abroad to the study of grand opera and her friends predict a successful career. When her studies abroad are completed she intends to make her initial appearance in grand opera in New York.

Miss Simonsen, or as she is better known by her stage name of Leonore Lester, was a recent favorite at the Broadway Theater, this city. She has also done successful work in the William Morris circuit in the East, as well as with Sullivan & Condon.

Miss Simonsen was reared in Oakland. She is the possessor of youth and beauty, and these combined with the experience she has already gained on vaudeville circuits make her success doubly assured.

Wealthy Woman Assists Boy in College Career

PHILADELPHIA.—Three months ago Marlon Mitchell was a belboy in the Hiltenshouse Hotel, at Twenty-second and Chestnut street, earning a small salary and facing a future not particularly bright.

Last week he matriculated for a four years' course at St. Luke's College, Wayne, Pa., where his tuition alone will represent an outlay of from $800 to $1000 a year and where he may fit himself for a position in life that a short time ago he would have deemed impossible of attainment.

It all came about in story-book fashion and the little Delaware village of Sharptown, where the lad was born, can't stop talking about the wonder of it all.

A few months ago young Mitchell left his home town and came to Philadelphia to make his own way. He obtained the position of belboy in the Hiltenshouse, where his bright face and courteous manners soon made him a general favorite with the guests. He attracted especially the attention of Miss Adeline Marquis, a wealthy woman, who until a week ago made her home at the Hiltenshouse.

Mitchell's unflinching cheerfulness and evident manliness finally interested Miss Marquis so that she wrote to the boy's mother, Mrs. Lottie Mitchell, of Sharptown, that with her consent she would be glad to give the boy a good education and a fair start in life. Naturally the mother agreed, and Miss Marquis at once set about keeping her word.

PASSES EXAMINATIONS.

The boy, who is unusually bright, was put into the hands of tutors, and made such good progress that a short time ago he successfully passed all the admittance examinations to St. Luke's College, and is now assured of a successful future. The Mitchell family are well known in their section of the country, the father, Lemuel P. Mitchell, up to the time of his death several years ago, having been a successful physician. He served through the war as a surgeon under Colonel Joe Johnson in the southern army.

Time, however, has not been kind to the Mitchell family. The father died several years ago, and the mother, Mrs. Lottie Mitchell, is now a widow.

Here Are College Girls Who Make Their Own Hats

NEW YORK.—Did you ever hear of a college-made hat? Well, they are making the very latest creations up at Columbia, young men, so you better take notice. They have become part of a modern college woman's education, and whether the college-made hat is more effective over the college-trained brain is a question that only a militant suffragette can answer.

Mrs. Jesse M. Tobey refuses to answer, although she is most eminently qualified to do so, for Mrs. Tobey is the head of the military department of Household Arts School of Columbia University.

But Mrs. Tobey went so far as to say that a woman who knows how to trim her own hats is far better equipped for her life work than the woman who knows about votes or how to do problems in algebra and geometry.

"It is not only more useful to her," Mrs. Tobey explains, "but she is better fulfilling her destiny in making hats than she is delving into swathing political problems or learning law. I begin to feel there is a double advantage back of the pendulum, and that the femininity and domestic ambitions, as coming into her own, and when she comes this modern restlessness of woman, the so-called 'problems' of the home, will have solved themselves."

HOW THE COURSE STARTED. "The David Graham Phillips and others that are rampant in the inefficiency of woman need no longer wait. We will again have the types that have made the homes of our mothers and grandmothers the splendid things that they were, with the added intelligence that scientific knowledge of domestic science is giving us."

Mrs. Tobey is a Columbia graduate, and four years ago, when she finished her college course, she thought it would be a fine thing to learn to make her own hats. "There was no place for me to learn," she said, "except to apprentice myself in a regular shop, which I did, and then I did all I could to get that branch of domestic art added to be course at Columbia. I am proud to say that the department is getting to be one of the most popular of the domestic branches in the course."

On Friday afternoon Mrs. W. Patterson was the hostess at an elaborate function in honor of the Amethyst 500 club. The guests of 500 was the attraction of the afternoon, after which an attractive menu was served. The banquet room was decorated artistically, the general color scheme being purple.

CAVALIERI FEARED INROADS OF TIME

Singer Married Chanler to Help Her 'Caste' as She Grew Older; Suffragette Trousered Gown Evolved by Dressmakers

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The statement that Lina Cavalieri loaned Robert Winthrop $10,000 and that the couple had agreed in the nature of security for this sum was made by Dr. George G. Rumbaugh of the Pasteur Institute and his wife, known on the stage as Gertrude Rumbaugh, upon their return from Paris yesterday.

Assassin Cheered For Murder of His Wife

ROME.—A terrible tragedy has occurred at Leghorn, arising out of the suspicions entertained by one of the wealthiest residents of the city that he was being deceived by his wife, the mother of his five children.

In order to verify his suspicions, he appears that this man told his wife he was paying a visit to Florence for a few days, but, instead of leaving Leghorn, set himself to watch in a house which unknown to his wife he had hired opposite his own mansion.

Shortly after midnight he saw one of his friends, a well-known banker, call at his house, where he was immediately admitted, and a few minutes afterward the wretched husband let himself in unseen, and armed with a gun and two revolvers, he found his wife and the banker together in the lady's boudoir.

Without a word he discharged both barrels of the gun at his false friend, who fell dead, shot through the head.

The wife at first sought to make her escape, but on seeing her lover's fate, threw herself before her husband, crying: "You have assassinated my lover! now kill me also." The husband repeatedly fired his revolvers at the woman, and she, too, fell dead, riddled with bullets.

The noise of the firearms caused a considerable crowd to gather outside the house, and the assassin, on explaining what he had done, was greeted with loud cheers.

include in their itinerary many of the principal cities of Europe, Egypt and the Orient. The trip is expected to extend a year in globe trotting.

LARGE RECEPTION.

Mrs. John Franklin Shumann entertained this afternoon at a large "at home" at her Vernon street residence. More than 100 guests received cards to the affair. Assisting Mrs. Shumann in receiving were Mrs. Giles Gray and Mrs. A. J. Snyder. Mrs. Shumann was, until her marriage of a few months ago, Miss Sarah Drinkwater. Today's reception was her first function since her occupancy of her new home.

VISITING HERE.

Mrs. Edward Alexander, who has been a guest in the city, will return next week to her home in Cincinnati. Mrs. Palmer is visiting her husband's home in Warren, S. Palmer, in Alameda, and has been the complimented guest at a number of social functions on both sides of the bay.

Mrs. Palmer was formerly Miss Rene Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Robert Kelly of San Francisco, and her marriage was a social event of the summer season.

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Charles Parker will be a hostess on the afternoon of October 22, when she will preside over a card party at her home on Sherman street.

ELABORATE WEDDING.

An elaborate wedding was solemnized last Wednesday evening at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Father Dempsey tying the nuptial knot of Miss Julia Bennett and Frank Chancello.

The bride was given in white satin. Mrs. May Arenz acted as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Antonette, Lucia, Theresa Chancello and Miss Florano Tesio, who were dressed in pink satin. The bridegroom was attended by Antonio Beninati and Joseph and John Chancello acted as ushers. After the wedding a reception and banquet was held at the home of Mrs. F. Chancello.

OAKLAND BAL-MASQUE PROVES A BIG TRIUMPH GREAT BOOST FOR PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION

Last night's brilliant Panama-Pacific Exposition ball, in which 3000 people made merry and in which the flower of Oakland and San Francisco society pledged aid to the great festival to be held in 1915. Princess Incognita is in the center of the picture surrounded by her gay subjects.

OAKLAND GIVES BIG BOOST FOR FAIR ACROSS THE BAY

Hundreds Trip the Light Fantastic, While as Many More Looked on From Gaily Decorated Boxes

The Spirit of Nineteen Fifteen spread its glowing wings over Idora Park last night and from the brilliant pagoda there arose a pean of praise to the Goddess of Progress which will be taken up and echoed and re-echoed throughout the State and Nation, blossoming and blooming in the greatest display of its kind the world has ever witnessed—the Panama-Pacific Exposition, in which all nations of the earth will play a part, and which will redound to the credit of California in general, Oakland and San Francisco in particular, with a gusto of good to the entire country.

In last night's brilliant spectacle Oakland struck the strongest blow for the great exposition that has yet been wielded, and gave to California the most brilliant function of its kind in the history of the State. The ball was unique in point of brilliancy, beauty of appointments, gathering of the best people in the twin cities, general excellence and exquisiteness in the ballroom. It was a triumph in which Oakland clasped hands with San Francisco and California in general to boost the great exposition.

The flower of the west gathered to do honor to the event. Society people from Oakland and San Francisco paid tribute to the occasion.

The park itself was transformed into a fairyland, and the pavilion where the throngs assembled became a medley of flashing gowns, dark eyes which glowed behind the masks like the rare jewels that adorned the white throat and neck of the wearers; exquisite hosiery; rich silks and satins; costly robes of all descriptions, kimonos and colors mingled in a scintillating brilliant picture. Fair Princess Incognita, in her robes of star, led the grand march with grace unsurpassed by any sovereign of Europe, and until unmasking time the mystery of her identity was not penetrated.

Like Louis XVI Days

Any old French king who could have reappeared in the flesh for at least a hour would have imagined himself transported back to the Little Trianon to one of the fetes made famous by the fair Marie Antoinette. There was a glow and dash to the affair that favored of the Louis XVI court balls—such a profusion of fair women and artistic costumes greeted the eye. The many brilliant balls have been held in the west, and possibly some may have equaled the bal-masque of last night, but none have surpassed it. The great shining rink was transformed into a picture of old world brilliancy.

Flags of all nations, emblematic of the world-wide scope of the mammoth project, fluttered from the rafters, while vari-colored streamers were draped in graceful folds overhead. Hidden lights cast a soft glow over the costumed throngs which glided through the mystic mazes of the waltz to the dreamy music which floated through the great building from the orchestra's dias at the far end of the mammoth hall. The entrance was a blazing arch of Exposition colors with the emblems of the various countries which will be represented in the festival of 1915.

Pavilion Filled

The throngs of maskers poured in from early in the evening, while by

8 o'clock not a vacant chair was to be found in the pavilion. Spectators, men and women, in evening dress, lined the sides, while the boxes were filled with prettily dressed women with their escorts. Prevailing all was the spirit of 1915, which added merriment to the fête and which lent additional significance to the brilliant function.

Throngs who were unable to gain admission to the pavilion formed long, double lines to the approach of the rink, through which the gaily dressed maskers trooped. Once inside, the couples whirled away in the dances, Mephistopheles danced with Marguerite, and Napoleon dined with Marie Antoinette on his arm while shepherdesses and courtiers were in evidence on all hands. A cool breeze and bells led fair Martha Washington, and the spirit of joy ruled. A brilliant spotlight from the gallery permeated the mellow glow like a sword of light, picking out for an instant the various couples. The music gave a touch of the ethereal to the scene, so dreamy, soft and entrancing were the notes.

FAIR MAIDS AND GALLANT MEN ENLIVEN FUNCTION

Every Notable Character in History and Mythology Is Pictured in Dance by Belles and Beaux at Idora Park

While the maskers slipped through the tangles, blending and mingling in a dazzling cinematograph of pretty individual pictures, the strings of incandescent lights overhead turned from brilliant scarlet which shed a rosy hue over the circling throngs when the fair Princess Incognita appeared at the head of her vast column of retainers, changing to a deep purple, which later blended into various hues, changing with the measures of the dance, from the light and airy two-step to the dreamy waltz. The floor formed a picture: a picture of thrilling, pulsating, brilliant life, which ebbed and flowed from one end of the great hall to the other, circling, gliding and tripping on its joyous journey.

Few attended who failed to take advantage of the polished floor and the fascinating music, and when the hour of unmasking—11 o'clock—arrived, all who had failed to join the crowds on the floor made up for lost time.

One of the most brilliant spectacles of the evening was the entry of the Princess Incognita, who appeared attended by four couples in waiting, all richly robed and masked. The maskers had previously formed in line and fell in behind the fair ruler of the evening. A spontaneous burst of applause greeted her arrival.

Identity of Princess

Circling around the pavilion she led the gaily clad throng through intricate evolutions which delighted the spectators. The mystery of the princess' identity continued until her mask was removed and the features of Mrs. William Thornton White, daughter of Frank Lumsden Brown, were revealed. Her attendants proved to be Miss Margaret Doe and Miss Florence Cluff of San Francisco; Miss Ethel Jackson and Miss Evelyn Adams of Oakland; Clyde Havens, Harry Leimert, Howard Smith, and Dr. Percy Gaskill of Oakland.

FEATURES OF EVENING.

One of the features of the evening was the variety of entertainment furnished by the committee in charge, which ranged from dancing to the humorous antics of "Bolivar," the wonderful trained elephant, and later the "baby" show. An attractive feature was the drill of the San Francisco Nationals, in their brilliant Zouave uniforms, under the command of Captain J. Charles Neale. They gave an unusually fine exhibition drill in the center of the ballroom.

The International Drill corps, composed of members of Oakland lodge of Elks, under the command of A. Vander Naillen, furnished not only an excellent exhibition of drilling, but supplied much fun by the ludicrous errors made by the four "tramp" members; the "attack" on the queen's throne and the strike of the "army."

One of the most marvelous displays was "Bolivar," the educated elephant, in charge of Gus Mann. Bolivar can

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR TALKS TO LARGE GATHERING

Tells Voters of College Town California Is Leader Among Progressive States and Parly Will Win

Returning to the same town and to the same hall in which he addressed a meeting of early bay citizens seven months ago, Hiram W. Johnson, Republican nominee for Governor, spoke before a larger gathering of 600 voters of Alameda county at the University of California last night. It was under strange and changed conditions that the Republican candidate for governor returned to the college city and appealed to the intelligence of the community.

When he arrived there last March, the presidential campaign was in its little more than a year. At that time, Charles W. Springer, Republican former president of the state, had been elected to the office of governor. Johnson, who had been elected to the office of governor, had been elected to the office of governor.
